"Exploring the Moral Issues Surrounding Stem Cell Research"

Presented by Dr. James Delaney

What is embryonic stem cell research and what ethical concerns must Christians confront relating to this issue? Do these research methods destroy actual human lives? Join us as we explore these questions from a Christian standpoint and discuss one of the foremost human rights controversies of our time

Dr. Delaney is Assistant Professor of Philosophy at Niagara University. He specializes in the area of biomedical ethics and has published essays on the topic in professional journals such as The American Journal for Bioethics and Inquiry. He has also authored two books, including Rousseau and the Ethics of Virtue.
